Washington, May 5.—Capt. Ward has no one to blame but himself for the loss of this afternoon's game to the Senators, for he virtually presented it to Orator O'Rourke in the second inning. It seemed as though the doughty Captain's fingers were full of oleomargarine or some other equally slippery substance, for stop and throw grounders he could not. Matters opened up auspiciously enough for the visitors, the 2,500 rooters for the Senators seeing their first three batsmen give easy chances for outs in the first inning. Burke poked a liner into Mulvey's hands and Tiernan came forward with a clean single. Ward sent Michael home on a double, but stuck at third, owing to the feeble efforts of his successors at the hat. Misery untoid was piled upon the visitors in the first half of the second, and all on account of Ward's fumbles. Wise sent a grounder to his rival at second, but the ball had butter on it, and the same thing occurred when Larkin durlicated Vise's lift to second. Farrell put up a fly, which Burke dropped, and the bases were full. Mulvey nopped up a fly for King, but builting a tet the crowd yelling with a homer between left and centre, and four uncarned runs resulted. This proved to be a commanding lead, for New York only came within one run of that disastrous second inning, and it was through the courtesy of Shortstop Sullivan that Ward's men came that close to the National singgers, for the locals demonstrated their right to this title in the third and fourth finnings, when they opened up a fusillade on Ring, which yielded seven runs, five of which were earned. This virtually settled the game, The score: fternoon's game to the Senators, for he virtually presented it to Orator O'Bourke in the selebrate the temporary cessation of the spressing, dampening, and apparently expretty game of baseball was played at Eastern Park yeaterday afternoon. Simultaneously the opening of Brooklyn's baseball season was celebrated, and so delighted were the people with the opportunity to express their gratilication with the pleasing combination of baseball and sunny weather that nearly 10,000 persons were present at the ceremonies. The national game is a plant that cannot be killed by excessive moisture. No matter how thoroughly soaked it may be, just as soon as Old sol shows his smilling face the sport bloadoms like a Jack rose in a hothouse. Therefore, when Jupiter Pluvius shut off the faucet of his rain reservoir and sunlight began to break through the leaden clouds, the loyal cranks across the bridge prepared for a day of huge enjoyment, in which laudable undertaking they were assisted by a large number of extreme enthusiasts from New York. When the cranks reached Eastern Park they found a preity seens. The grand stands were handsomely draped with gay banners and bunting, while streamers strung over the top of the grand stand after the fashion of a man-of-war waved gayly in the fresh breeze, giving the stands a gallant, attractive appearance. It was a preity setting for the field of emerald velvet, and when to all this was added the bright apring finery of the fominine admirers of the sport, the general effect was charming.

In the centre of the main stand were stationed the red-coated members of Contention shand, sending forth strains that implied the cranks with a desire to trip the provided the cranks with a desire to trip the provided the cranks with a desire to trip the provided the cranks with a desire to trip the provided the cranks with a desire to trip the cocasion made their appearance has been cocasion made their appearance to the country as in their customary white suits and red stockings, while the Quakers appeared in the usual sober gray. The Philadelphias exhibited all their well-known skill. Jack Boyls, the ex-New Yorker, disported himself at first in a self-possessed way, and Wiffred Carsey, who learned the rudiments of the national game in that classic region through which winds the silvery Harlem River, indicated that he had learned his lesson in a thorough school. Taken altogether, the game was a sharp, keen, active one, with which the spectators could find no fault especially in view of the fact that victory perched on the banners of the home team.

The Brooklyns went to the bat first. Griffin the Brooklyns went to the bat first. Griffin thinking the ball was fair, started for second. Haliman captured the ball and returned it to first in time to make a double play. Dailey struck out. Hamilton of the Philadelphias was caught out by Dailey. Thompson sent up a fly for Tom Daly to gather in, and then Delehanty gave Griffin a difficuit chance, which was accepted. Great applause greeted Griffin's brilliant effort. In the second inning Shoch waited for a base on balls and reached third, when Allen threw the ball, which Daly hit to him, out of Royle's rench. CAMBRIDGE, May 5.—The Athletic Committee of Harvard gave out to-day for publication the correspondence between the Harvard and Yale baseball managers relative to the third game of baseball. This action became necessary for several reasons, not the least of which were the reports which Yale had circulated Implying that the matter of arranging a date for the third game, in case of a tie in the first two, rested entirely with Harvard. been stated in the reports from New Haven that Havvard had not communicated with Yale in regard to this disputed point. This is untrue, for on April 20 Manager Hill wrote to the manager of the Yale association asking for a settlement of the question.

That Yale should try to make the public believe that the fault of arranging a third game was with Harvard alone, has created quite a feeling here. The fact is, it has been Harvard's sincere desire to prevent a recurrence of last year's experience—an undecided championship.

The point of dispute is this, that Yale refuses obstinately to make a date for the tie game, on neutral grounds, unless this tie arm a shall be played before either of the

THE NAVAHOUS FIRST RACE.

She Makes a Fine Showing Against the Iro-quois in an 18-Mile Run.

NEWPORT, May 5 .- Royal Phelps Carroll's new yacht, the Navahoe, had !ts first brush today with another craft, therefore it was the first opportunity for a fair test of its merits by comparison. Her competitor was Ralph N. Ellis's schooner yacht Iroquels, which came up from New York during the night with C. Oliver Iselin aboard, and, taking on Commodore Morgan, went to Briatol. It happened this afternoon that the Navahoe and Iroquois were both to come down from Bristol together, and a race was proposed. The distance is eighteen miles. The wind was southwest and strong, making a good orportunity for a test of salling qualities and of pointing, the run being meatiy a beat to windward.

Mr. Carroll and Capt, Charley Barr directed the work of the Navahoe, and Commodore Morgan and Mr. Isedin were in charge of the Iroquois. The run was made away nast the city out to Castle Hill, which is well out to sea. It was judged that the Navahoe was fully a mile and a quarter shead of the Iroquois, and as far down to windward of her as the narrow passage would admit of. The Navahoe carried all working sails and stood up remarkably well.

Commodore Morgan and Mr. Iselin give her great praise. She is now in Mr. Carroli's hands, though not yet in commission. A run to sea will be made to-merrow. So far as now known, she will sail for Cowes about Aug. 1. Mr. Carroll will go on the yacht and Mrs. Carroll by steamer. dore Morgan, went to Bristol. It happened

A Large Crowd Sees Banquet Defeat Terrifer and Bitteen on the Closing Day of the Spring Meeting at Elizabeth-Fatry Wins the Special 100-Pound Race for Mr. Croker-Johnny Lambley Rides Five Winners -Secretary McIntyre Presented with a Handsome Watch by His Friends.

The spring meeting of the New Jersey Jockey Club came to a most successful close at Elizabeth yesterday, more than 5,000 persons being present. The weather was superb and the track was in surprisingly good condition. thanks to the tireless efforts of Superintendent Brush and his corps of assistants. The racing was remarkable, M. F. Dwyer winning four straight races, while Jockey Johnny Lambley had five winning mounts.

The great attraction for the crowd was the special sweepstakes for Banquet, Terrifler, and Blitzen at one mile, and the talent showed their eleverness by making M. F. Dwyer's game little gelding favorite, although he was conceding considerable weight to both of his opponents. John Lambler rode Banquet, while Simms was engaged to pilot Terrifler. The Guttenburger, Biltzen, had the crack hill-top jockey McDermott upon his back, and there was the most intense interest in the contest. Five thousand pairs of eyes were upon Starter Rowe when he dropped the red flag and the trio darted away from the post. Around the lower turn Blitzen showed a trifle in front, with Terrifler and Banquet running lapped. McDermott letshe brown colt step to the half-mile pole in 50% seconds, and at the beginning of the upper turn Biltzen was almost clear of his adversaries. In the run around the turn Terrifler and Banquet closed on the leader so that at the head of the stretch they were ide by side, running like one horse. Blitzen was next the rail, while Banquet was on the outside. For a hundred yards there was no perceptible advantage, and the occupants of stand and lawn were in a ferment. Suddenly Bilizen began to hang, and a moment later McDermott had gone to the whip. Banquet and Terrifler drew out, and a furlong from home the latter was going smoothly, and, to all appearances, had speed in reserve. Lambley scored Banquet with whip and spur, and the favorite came on with that buildog pertinacity which has made him famous, forcing Simms to ride Terrifler with all the vigor at his command. Banquet's ears were flat upon his neck and his rush was irresistible. Gradually overhauling and passing the Morris cast-off, he won by a scant half length. Biltzen was a fair third. Banquet's performance pleased the critics immensely, and he will not want for support when he starts for the Brooklyn Handleap on Monday, May 15.

There was another special contest that aroused not a little excitement and gent the stand and lawn were in a ferment. Suddenly performance pleased the critics immensely, and he will not want for support when he starts for the Brooklyn Handleap on Monday. May 15.

There was another special contest that aroused not a little excitement and sent the throng homeward in a happy mood. This was he five-furiong special, arranged after it was learned that W. C. Daly's Bolero would have a walkoyer, for the sixth race. Mr. Croker named Fairy: M. F. Dwyer, Nomad: W. C. Daly, Gold Dollar: Empire Stable, Tormentor, and Col. Ruppert. Oilvia. all to carry 100 pounds. Fairy really was conceding her opponents 10 pounds, as Lambley rode at 5 pounds over weight, but the men who make the odds were shy, and held the angular daughter of Argyle at a very short price. Jimmy Lambley spoiled a couple of good starts, and Oilvia helped matters by dancing about at the post like a crazy thing. At length a good start was secured, and Gold Dollar and Tormentor went away at a terrific pace, running the first furlong in 11%, and the quarter in 23% seconds. Lambley kept Fairy under a pull in third place until the head of the stretch, where he gradually improved his position. finally winning with a little usging by a good open length. Gold Dollar and Tormentor had a flerce fight for second place, the former securing it by a nose. Nomad was too much for N. Hill. No small boy can get this big sluggish son of Wildide running in time to be dangerous in a five-furlong scramble. The time, 1.02%, marks a good performance.

M. F. Dwyer put a heavy commission on Daly's filly Gerthe to win the dish at half a mile for two-year-olds, and then saw his own coit Calando win the race by a neck. Girtle had a commanding lead at the head of the stretch, and she would have won had Jimmy Lambley gone on about his business. But this little boy dawlied along, looking over his shoulder, and his brother swooped down upog him a hundred yards from home with Calando, and, outriding him, won by a neck. Hush, after moving away from the post very slowly, was third, beaten only a neck. Calando, the winne brother to that high-class performer. Eolian with which Garrison was so successful. The second race was Banquet's, already referred to, and the third also went to M. F. Dwyer, his three-year-old coit Harvest carrying thousands of dollars for the plungers. Lambley waited on Magician. Fremont, and Alcalde until well into the homestretch, where he moved up on the outside and won under a pull by a length. The finish for second place was most exciting, Bergen coming from the rear with a terrific rush and landing the Billet Doux colt a nose before Fremont. Magician was fourth, only a head away. The Billet Doux colt was a 10 to 1 shot for the place.

Mitt Young was an even money favorite for the selling race at six furlongs. Lepanto, Chief Justice, and Hamme being next in favor.

Doux colt was a 10 to 1 shot for the place.

Milt Young was an evan money favorite for the selling race at six furlongs, Lepanto, Chief Justice, and Hammie being next in favor.

Lepanto made the running until the stretch was reached, where Hammie moved up on the outside, while Milt Young challenged on the rail. A hundred wards from the finish the three lenders were crowding each other and. A hundred wards from the finish the three lenders were crowding each other and Milt Young was forced to the rail. Dogget being compelled to pull up or be thrown down. Hammie and Lepanto then fought it out to the wire, the former winning by a nose. Chief Justice, last horse in the stretch, ran the last quarter very fast and beat Milt Young, who pulled up lame, a head for third place. Daly wanted to enter a claim of foul when it was too late. Hammie's race made the fourth consecutive victory for M. F. Dwyer's horses, and Jockey Lambley's mother, who had a seat in the grand stand, must have been proud of her boy. The race that followed brought out a poor lot, Julia L. being an odds on favorite over Ingot, Shelly Tuttle, and Johnstin. Bergen waited with the Ramapo bred filly until a quarter from home, and then, cutting loose, won easily by two lengths from Johnstin, who beat Shelly Tuttle away off.

Bolero then galloped six furlongs in 1:17% under a heavy pull, and the special race won by Fairy was called. "Look at that dirty, old Bolero," said Daly, as he closed his watch with a victous snap. "he gallops of Flizabeth of a magnificent gold stop watch to Secretary Hugh D. Meintyre of the New Jersey Jockey Club. The presentation took place in the club house after the race, and Lawyer James English made a happy speech culogizing the handsome secretary and assuring him of the exalted position he held in the hearts of the good people of Union county. The Ringer Spirited Away-A Race Track War and Bad Starting.

In every race the fields were sent off strangling, while several horses were left standing at the post, and he threw the flag in the third race with the well-played Zampost going the wrong way of the track.

Clark Brow, in spite of police surveillance, spirited the horse I willight, whose victory on Thursday occasioned so much talk, from the track last night. This move seems to prove that the horse is a ringer, and it is now thought that he is the Vanguard gelding. Dr. Davis. The association has placed detectives on the case and will endeavor to slift the matter to the bottom. At prosent they seem unable to do more in the case than pay the purse over to the owner of Frank Ellis, who finished second, and rule Clarke Brox. off the turf.

On account of the war between this club and the Fast Side track, the Western Union Telegraph Company were forced by the association to close their office on the grounds, leaving only the race wire in use to-day. This will also probably be taken out to-morrow by orders of the club. The offence the company is guilty of is transmitting messages in an indirect circuit to the East Side track. It is now war to the knife, inasmuch as Gardoer, the pool room official reporter, and the Western Union are compelled to take a hand.

A baker's dozen went to the post in the first race at six furlongs, of which Old Volunteer II., 115, 4, 3, McCafferty up, was the favorite at 8 to 5, and getting two lengths the best of a very bad send-off, in which lago and Artless were left at the post, he won cleverly by a length and half from the 30 to 1 shot Arthur G., who beat Bone Doctor a length for second place. Time, 0:50%, St. Joe, 103, C. Hueston in the saddle, the favorite at 7 to 10, won the field in the second race at four furlongs, with eight starters, proved an easy victory for the S to 5 favorite, Hasty, S0, piloted by C McDonald, he getting home two le

It is reported that Mr. Astor is about to embark in racing enterprises in England. The present lessees of the Bennings track at Washington will hold races during the month of December.

It has been the impression that the racing stud of the late Squire Abington would be permanently kept up by the trustees, but it has been recently announced in English sporting circles that both the racing and breeding studs will be sold shortly. studs will be sold shortly.

Mr. Henry Payten of Sydney, New South Wales, has patented what he calls the phonoscopic starting signal, which is coupled to a portable and convenient stand attached to a light under-carriage, and can be readily moved from one starting point to another. The signal is worked by a light lever or trigger, by which the starter, when opportunity offers, may, without effort, despatch large fields of horses on even terms from the fissh of the signal, which consists of a neatly constructed semaphore, and the instantaneous report from a large metallic gong, thus giving the jockeys the intimation from a simultaneous sight and sound signal that the start has been effected.
